How about the suspect's identity?
We verified the identity of the hostage. Her name is Kimberly Foster who has been a nurse in this hospital for 3 years, and she was on a night shift today.
We tried but nothing came up. We took the suspect's picture, but we didn't find a match in our database.
Just keep searching for it. There's gotta be some info on this guy. This fucking lighter isn't working Shit. What's going on all of a sudden?

How do you think I feel? I'm supposed to start my vacation tomorrow morning.
You can still go on vacation later. These emergency cases happen all the time, you know. But, don't worry. If things go well tonight you might still be able to leave for vacation tomorrow morning.
Ah, and don't forget to write an official report and organize all the documents about this case before you leave tomorrow.
What? You gotta be kiddin' me
Nope, I'm serious. Do you have a lighter?
I quit smoking. It's time for you to quit now~

...Fuck you.
Hey, do you have a lighter?
Eh?
Detective,
the hostage's father is here.
I think you should meet him.
Just let him calm down first
I don't want to hear him whining about his daughter.

"Umm... actually,
the hostage's father is the director of this hospital."

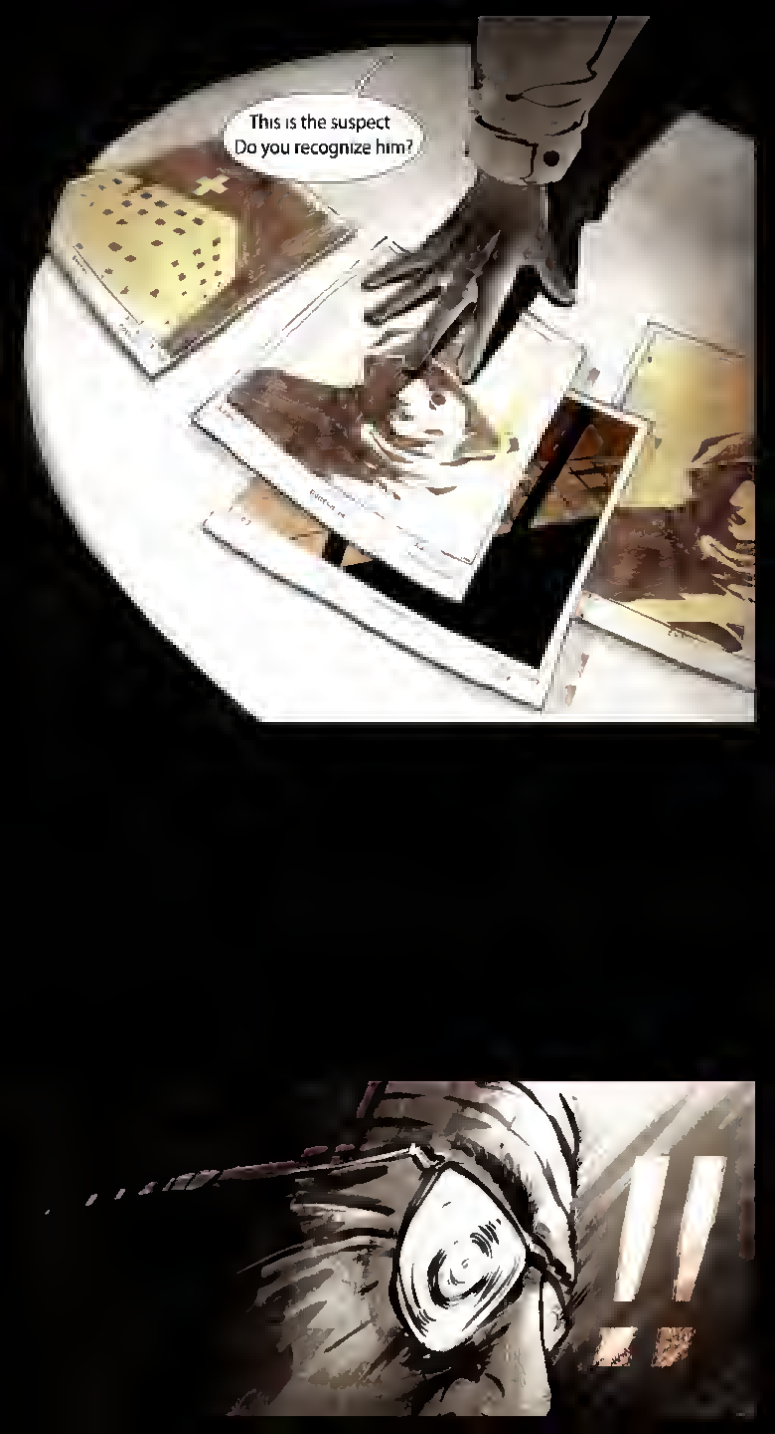
Hello. Doctor Foster.
I'm detective David Cooper.
I'm currently in charge of this case.
So,
what's going on?
A member of the hospital staff checked through CCTV and found that a stranger broke into the hospital around 3AM.
When we arrived there, the suspect had already taken the hostage captive.
Who?
We tried to overpower the suspect with firearms, but it didn't go well. The suspect might try to deal with us by using the hostage, but we're not sure yet.
We believe that the suspect is suffering from several mental conditions.
Is my daughter safe?
For now, she is.
Without any knowledge of who the suspect is, there's no way to tell for sure.
Do you know anyone who would bear a grudge against you?
I'm a director of the hospital, there are a ton of people who would have a grudge against me.
I suppose that's true.
Please take a look at this picture.



This is the suspect
Do you recognize him?

NOOOOOOOOOO

My daughter's in danger!

He's a monster!
